MR. LAWRENCE'S RESIDENCE.—The determination in certain quarters to receive a legal residence in Rhode Island by this gentleman, is of a most extraordinary and unjustifiable character. The proper as well as the more civil course, under the circumstances, would be to presume that there is no foundation for the assumption, some put forth against his residence until such assumption shall be proved. His name is on the voting list, and the Board of Canvassers knowing their duty better than certain too officious intermeddlers that have attempted to raise a hue and cry against him, have decided we understand to retain it there. And there is not the least reason to apprehend that the final canvass will reject him any sooner than it would any other actual resident. Nevertheless the course pursued by the Providence Journal and Newport News we have no doubt will operate in favor of his election; more especially in this town, where if the citizens do not upon party principles in party affair, they know as well as any others what is due to themselves and to the rites of hospitality. We have no doubt that Mr. Lawrence is a resident in accordance with the law, and will be elected to the office for which he has been nominated. A circumstance we hope that will give to Election week in Newport an extraordinary interest.—Pro. Herald.

We are not surprised that Judge Joslin feels very indignant about this matter, and thinks that Mr. Lawrence, as a matter of courtesy, "under the circumstances", ought to be allowed to vote in this town. The Judge entertains very peculiar views in regard to Constitutional Law and all such matters; and he expounds them with a profundity which is very amusing. The Judge was General Treasurer under Dorr's Constitution, although he never was able to persuade Stephen Cooke, Esq. to surrender to him the key of the strong chest. The Judge was elected by extending courtesy to the dead whose names were taken from the grave yard in this town, and used as voters; the fort, the coal-mines, the poor-house and the jail were all visited, and their tenants, by courtesy, were allowed to vote in those memorable times. The persons who were conspicuous in those transactions are now the loudest in their talk about extending courtesy in this matter.

We take the case of Mr. Lawrence as we find it, and as we should take that of any other gentleman. Personal friendship, great wealth, rare accomplishments, marked talents, and nothing else can suffice us from what we conceive to be the line of duty. We have ascertained the facts, and on these we shall fearlessly act. We owe a duty to the party as the editor of one of its journals; and we mean to discharge that duty fully and honestly. The man who would shrink from this, because of his own unpleasant nature to him, in consequence of the wealth, position, &c. of his opponent, would be unworthy of the cause which he espoused. The strongest possible evidence, Mr. Lawrence's own solemn oath, before God and man, that he was a resident of New York on the 11th of last July, taken not as a matter of fact, but in consequence of the most consummate integrity, kindness, and active benevolence. She was an instance that poetical genius of a high order may be united to a mind well regulated, able and willing to execute the ordinary duties of life in an exemplary manner. Gentle and unassuming to all, with an unchangeable simplicity of manner and of character, she connoted many of the most celebrated for talent and genius among her friends.

NEWSPAPER.—It is said that Mr. ... has sold the ... to Mr. ... formerly Minister to the Court of Berlin.

even as a matter of form, as some of the Democratic party term it, because he fully comprehends the moral and religious obligation of an oath,—and he well knows that an oath is binding before God and man; and that a man's conscience can make no distinction in the nature of oaths, and that he cannot make a mental reservation when he takes one. An oath has but one meaning, and it is susceptible of no qualification and no explanation. It speaks for itself in its own positive and strong and solemn language.

It is amusing in the extreme to hear the honest, straightforward, conscientious Locofoco assert that it is dishonorable in the Whigs to show that Mr. Lawrence has not gained a legal residence in Rhode Island, which will make him eligible to any civil office.

These are the same honest men who attempted to overthrow the government of this State in 1842, many of whom were indicted for Treason against the State, and who afterwards escaped punishment through the magnanimity of the very government which they had recklessly attempted to crush. These are the honest men who talk about dishonorable acts, with as much apparent sincerity and purity as would the angels in heaven. These are the men, too, who are striving for power, and these are the men who have always contended that if they could get control of the Government, they would reward the martyrs of the Dorr rebellion, from the State Treasury. The immaculate Daniel Brown has repeatedly asserted that he would not sell his claim against the State for $5,000. Are the people of Rhode Island prepared to place these men in power, who will tax them to the amount of a million of dollars to reward the traitors of 1842? Pause and reflect on this matter before you vote the Locofoco ticket.

DEATH OF JOANNA BAILLIE.—We regret to announce the decease of Joanna Baillie, which took place at Hempstead on Feb. 23—a poet whose name is indelibly inscribed on the annals of our literature, whose genius, remarkable in character, has received the homage of the most exalted of her contemporaries. Born in the year 1762, in the manse of Bothwell, near Glasgow, of which place her father was minister, her great age connected her with a period signalized by the most remarkable events, and equally as by the great intellectual impulse which then leavened the social mass.

At the end of the last century a crowd of distinguished persons appeared in every department where eminence could be attained, and the names of Campbell, Moore, Scott, shortly to be succeeded by some equally celebrated, prove that in poetry the period was particularly rich. The works of Joanna Baillie, which then appeared anonymously, created as great a sensation as any production of the great authors above-mentioned, and the impression which was the result of their first appearance was much heightened when, contrary to all expectation, they were found to be the writings of a woman. This impression was still further increased when it was discovered that the authoress was still young, had always led a secluded life, and had, therefore, by the force of imagination alone, bodily forth productions usually the result of experience and intercourse with the world.

Her works are marked by great originality and invention; for the foundation of her dramas are not in general historical, nor stories from real life, but combinations wrought out from her own conceptions. Her knowledge of the human heart, of its wide range of good and of evil, of its multifarious, changeable and wayward nature, was great, and her power of portraying character has rarely been exceeded. Her language is simple and forcible, while the illustrations and imagery, often suggested probably, by the picturesque localities where her youth was passed, are copious and effective. Her female portraits are especially beautiful, and possess an unusual degree of elevation and purity. Several of her dramas have been acted.

Though her fame tended greatly to draw her into society, her life was passed in retirement. It was pure and moral in the highest degree, and was characterized by the most consummate integrity, kindness, and active benevolence. She was an instance that poetical genius of a high order may be united to a mind well regulated, able and willing to execute the ordinary duties of life in an exemplary manner. Gentle and unassuming to all, with an unchangeable simplicity of manner and of character, she connoted many of the most celebrated for talent and genius among her friends.

BY TELEGRAPH.

ELECTION OF U. S. SENATOR IN OHIO.—Columbus, March 15.—After several ballottings for Senator, the Whigs withdrew Mr. Corwin, and nominated Judge Wade, of Ashtabula county, who was elected by the following vote:—Wade, (whig) 44; Payne, (dem.) 34; blank, 7. Judge Wade was one of the earliest supporters of General Taylor in the Western Reserve. John Woods, whig, was re-elected State Auditor on the 5th ballot. The Whigs also succeeded in electing two minor officers.

The steamer George W. Kendall exploded her cylinder head, killing the carpenter and wounding several others.

SOUTHERN ITEMS.—BALTIMORE, March 16.—The trial of the Cashier and of Messrs. Beach & Co. and others, of New York, Directors of the Havre de Grace Bank, has commenced at Belair. The trial of Gen. Chaplain, the slave abductor, is settled for to-morrow, in the Howard District Court. It is doubtful whether he will answer or forfeit his bail of $20,000.

John Minor Botts has been nominated unanimously for Congress, by the Whig Convention for the Richmond District. Brown, a post office clerk at Augusta, has been arrested for robbing letters. He confessed his guilt.

Hon. George McDowell, of S. C., is said to be dying.

TOO MUCH WATER AGAIN.—A despatch from New Orleans, dated the 14th, says—"The Mississippi has risen to a great height and continues rising. Fears are entertained of another serious catastrophe at Bonnet Carré. Much damage has already been done along the River."

MORE DOCTORS.—The University of Maryland, on Monday, gave forty-five persons authority to practice medicine, and kill or cure scientifically.

THE Washington correspondent of the N. Y. Evening Post says that about 30 of the Senators pocketed the constructive mileage for the late executive session, the aggregate amount of which was about sixty thousand dollars.

SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES.—The Washington Republic, in noticing the adjournment of the Supreme Court, says that the rules adopted by the Court at the commencement of the term have had a very beneficial effect on the despatch of business.—These rules limited the number of counsel to be employed in each cause; permitted no counsel more than two hours for his argument, and compelled each cause upon the calendar to be tried in its order, or to lose their place, and be added at the foot of the list. As a result of this reform, of two hundred and fifty cases noticed for trial one hundred have been disposed of, many of them of great importance, and it is expected at the next term the calendar will be cleared.

FINALE OF THE QUINCY TRAGEDY.—The father of the unknown man who was found dead in Quincy, Mass. with the dead body of a young woman beside him, has written a letter to the Coroner of Quincy, from Zanesville, Ohio, testifying to the identity of the bodies. He gives the directions respecting their burial, and wishes the following inscription to be placed upon the tombstone.

To the memory of JOHN R. GRIEVE, aged 22 years
and HANNAH BANKS, his wife,
aged 15 years.
Both of Zanesville, Ohio,
Deluded by the writings of A. J. Davis.

The editor of the "Liberator" on being "prostrated by illness" dictated a column of comments for his last paper upon Shadrach's escape, in which he compares Mr. Fillmore to Nero, considers Haynes, an angel of light in comparison, with Webster, and represents Henry Clay as "just ready to have both body and soul cast into hell." The editor then regrets that he has "so little power of expression to convey the emotions that fill his breast." When he is restored to health, no doubt this amiable person will be able to express himself with some degrees of severity.

GOON.—If girls would only spend as much time with encyclopedias as they do with milliners, they would soon find their heads as attractive as their hats.

BEAUTIFUL EXTRACT.—The following finely expressed sentiment we find in the paper. It will be read with general interest:

The man that doth no paper take,
Gring two dollars a year,
Will never a good husband make.

Because his wife can never know what very man in the world, and his children will scar.

NEWSPAPER.—It is said that

Mr. ... has sold the ... to Mr. ... formerly Minister to the Court of Berlin.

John Hancock wore at the time he put his name to the Declaration of Independence, a coat with buttons of silver of American manufacture, the device, a shepherd shearing his sheep—the motto, "You gain more by our labor than by our death."

Mr. Corcoran of Washington, the purchaser of the Greek Slave, intends to place it in the beautiful gallery of art he has recently added to his mansion.

The two large steamships recently launched from the ship-yards of William H. Webb and Meares, Smith & Duman, for the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, are called the "Illinoi" and "Indiana."

"More trouble coming," said Mrs. Partington laying down the paper, "there's the State of Affairs; I suppose I'll soon be applying for admission into the Union," and the old lady resumed her darning with a look of patriotic anxiety.

TO Merchants and Consumers who would purchase the best products of Cocoa—free from adulteration—more nutritious and healthful than tea or coffee—soil, in quality unsurpassed—the subscriber recommends the above articles, manufactured by himself, and stamped with his name and residence. His Broas and Cocoa Paste are delicate—palatable—and salutary drinks for invalids, convalescents, children, travellers, and others, are pronounced by them as eminent physicians superior to any other preparations. His French and Vanilla Chocolate are warranted equal in delicacy and flavor to the best of Paris manufacture, and at one half their prices. In consequence of the great adulteration it is almost all the Cocoa and Chocolate preparations now offered to the public, in order to cheapen them, the subscriber hopes that his own manufactures will be thoroughly tested; and if found up to his recommendation, they may be referred to his agents when purchased, and their cost shall be refunded. They are always on sale, in any quantity, by the principal wholesale dealers in the Eastern cities; and by his agents, E. D. Bright & Co., Boston; James M. Bruce & Co., Hartford; F. & M. EXPERIENCE is the Basis of
All Real Knowledge.—To SEE and to FEEL is to KNOW, and that which is seen and known must not be contradicted.

When Galileo announced the discovery of new planets, the Aristotelians said, "This is impossible." Galileo replied, "Look through my telescope, and behold." The philosophers rejoined, "We will not look lest we should see them."

There are a few people now-a-days so silly that they will not look at facts lest some project should be disturbed. These persons are, however, not numerous, and their stupidity injures nobody but themselves. The character of Dr. S. P. Townsend's Compound EX-TRACT of Sarsaparilla rests upon universal experience alone. Without this solid foundation, it never could have attained the widespread popularity which it at present enjoys.
Its value and medicinal efficacy being thus demonstrated by the experience of thousands,
it is only necessary to say that science sanctions and verifies the verdict.

Dr. JAMES R. CHILTON, Physician and Chemist of the highest rank, superintends the compounding of this Sarsaparilla.
